Dear Professor Riedel:

This is a brief update.

We have completed the draft of the second national report and will be translated into English language by mid-May. I assume you will receive the English version by early June. The secretariat at the Ministry of Justice just informed me that they had written you to reconfirm if you can come to Taipei in January 2017. I am writing to say that we would be most grateful if you can serve on the committee again. We will do what we can to facilitate your participation.

Eagerly await your reply.

Best regards,

Mab Huang

Dear Mab,

happy new year. I look forward very much to participating in the review process. Yesterday I confirmed again to the Secretariat that I am gladly participating again.

Kindest regards, Eibe

Dear Professor Riedel:

Many thanks for your kind reply on February 3. Looking forwards to your visit early next year.

Best regards,

Mab

Dear Professor Ando:

This is a brief update.

We have completed the draft of the second national report and will be translated into English language by mid-May. I assume you will receive the English version by early June. The secretariat at the Ministry of Justice just informed me that they had written you to reconfirm if you can come to Taipei in January 2017. I am writing to say that we would be most grateful if you can serve on the committee again. We will do what we can to facilitate your participation.

Eagerly await your reply.

Best regards,
Mab Huang

Dear Professor Huang;

I thought I had replied to your earlier letter of invitation to Taipei in 2017 to review the 2nd periodic report of Taiwan under the ICCPR. Yes, I certainly do my best to attend the review.

Thank you so much for all your effort to make it a success!

Best regards,

Nisuke Ando

Dear Professor Ando:

Thank you for your letter of February 4. It is great that you will participate in the review process of the second national report.

Best regards,
Mab Huang

Dear Ms. Jahangir:

This is a brief update.

We have completed the draft of the second national report and will be translated into English language by mid-May. I assume you will receive the English version by early June. The secretariat at the Ministry of Justice just informed me that they had written you to reconfirm if you can come to Taipei in January 2017. From our correspondence, I know you are concerned with the possibility that your workload may interfere with your contribution to the review committee's work. I am writing you to urge you that if at all possible we would be most grateful if you can serve on the committee again. We will do what we can to facilitate your participation.

Eagerly await your reply.

Best regards,
Mab Huang

Dear Mab Huang,

Thanks a lot. Let me get back to you once you have a firm schedule.

Much regard,

Asma Jahangir

Dear Ms. Jahangir:

Many thanks for your prompt reply. I do really hope you can participate in the review process of the second national report. We will wait to hear from you.

Best regards

Dear Professor Mab Huang,

Thank you very much for your kind and helpful email which is highly appreciated by me. I did also receive the message from the secretariat at the Ministry of Justice and noted with pleasure that a number of members of the Review Committee have already indicated their availability to continue to serve on the committee.

I would indeed be delighted to continue myself to serve because I do believe that the review process is helpful to the human rights situation in Taiwan, in particular since the newly elected presidency together with a new majority in parliament may provide an extra impulse to the review process.

As you rightly observed my health situation - which has remained unchanged since quite some time by now - may impede my participation in the work of the committee as it would involve extensive travel. Nevertheless for the time being I would not fully rule out this option of travelling to Taipei. We may also consider, as a second best solution, that my participation in the Review Committee be concentrated on making written comments in the pre-session stage and on a few oral contributions by Skype during the committee's session on the scene. Such solution would not be optimal but based on recent experience in other matters it may serve a good purpose. Anyway, these are only some loose thoughts.

Very best wishes,

Theo van Boven

Dear Professor van Boven:

Thank you very much for your reply of February 2. I am very pleased to learn that you are enjoying good health. Your suggestions will do just fine and I will propose to the seven -person group and see how they react.

Best regards to Mrs. van Boven.

Subject: International Review of Second Periodic Report--Taiwan

Dear Professor Alston,

Taiwan's government will announce its second periodic report under the ICCPR and ICESCR in April of this year. The Secretariat of International Review Committee will send the report to each member of the International Review Committee at the same time. It's regrettable that you cannot come to Taiwan's international review conference in January 2017. However we would greatly appreciate if you could recommend another international expert to us. If not, how about Paul Hunt?

Guantanamo Bay Report

On February 15, 2006, Hunt was one of the authors of a UN report on human rights abuses of suspects in extrajudicial detention at the U.S. naval base at Guantánamo Bay, Cuba. The report condemned the American treatment of detainees. It said that the detainees should all either be charged in a court of law, or released. It said that Guantanamo should be shut down, and that U.S. authorities should start adhering strictly to the accepted worldwide standards of treatment of prisoners.

U.S. spokesmen responded to this report by criticizing them for declining a recent invitation to visit the Guantanamo Bay detention camp. Hunt replied to this criticism by pointing out that he and his four fellow authors had struggled for several years to get permission for a fact-finding visit. The invitation from U.S. authorities was limited, only open to three of the five committee members, and the visitors would have to agree to refrain from any efforts to speak with any of the detainees. Hunt and his colleagues felt that it was essential to talk to the detainees, if they were to travel to Guantanamo.

Right to Health

As well as being an academic and expert called upon by UN agencies, Paul Hunt is an active campaigner for a human rights approach to healthcare.

In 2008 Professor Hunt was awarded an honorary doctorate by the Nordic School of Public Health.^[1]

In his TEDx talk in 2014 Paul Hunt called for equality in health systems.^[2]

I can be available from Sunday, January 15 until Wednesday, January 18 flight time for my return to NY in time for the opening class of the winter/spring semester. But please make the schedule according to the availability of others since, at my age, I cannot be certain that my health will permit the trip. Many thanks.

Dear Professor Cohen,

Thank you for your prompt reply and let us know that for you the safest time is the week beginning January 9, i.e., the period Jan 9-14. However, due to other member's schedules, I'm afraid we still need to make sure the week beginning January 16, i.e., the period Jan 16-20 is okay for you.

Best regards,

The Secretariat of International Review Committee

Dear all,

Can we please check who of us would be available during the week from 9 to 13 January, and who for the week thereafter? Is it also possible to start during the weekend?

I will be teaching during the week from 9 to 13 January. But if this will be the only week in which all the others are available, I would enquire whether this teaching week in Venice could be rescheduled.

Best wishes

Manfred
